Lessard Two

Modern Retirement

by Melissa K. Bourgeois

This Lessard bungalow shows the acres of space and nature with our other featured Lessard home. The interior is a reminiscence of lives well-travelled, as the house is decorated in art and artifacts from around the world.

In the foyer, a hand-carved Chinese chest, brought to Canada in the late 1940s, sits below a papirus painting of an open-air marketplace in Cairo. Every room exudes culture, through a candlestick purchased in Singapore, a carved gorilla from Rwanda, an embroidered silk-on-silk portrait of a Chinese guide, or the sculptures of Canadians decorating the main floor hallway.

Complementing the sculptures and crafts are the works of several artists of note. In the master bedroom hangs a painting by Irene Klar, known for taking inspiration from the textiles of other cultures. In the dining area rests some

Wilowend Resort

Wilowend Resort at Lac La Poudre—your summer home away from home—is an RV resort for long-term tenants. Surrounded by a bird and wildlife sanctuary, summers spent here are filled with fishing, swimming, quidding, and a number of activities to fill your vacation time away. Only an hour northwest of Edmonton, every day spent at Wilowend will be a day to remember. We support C&H Ballet in making every performance a memorable experience, and thank those who attend the C&H Home Tour for promoting dance in our city.

Modern Retirement

by Melissa K. Bourgeois

This luxury retirement bungalow was acquired with age and convenience in mind. Located in a development boasting over 24 acres of land, this sprawling home overlooks a quiet ravine and secured walking path.

The owner purchased this property as part of his long-term retirement plans. The luxurious quality of the home, as well as the location of the community and its amenities, were primary reasons for choosing this residence.

The neighbourhood is close to several freeways and shopping centres. The community offers various support services, such as a transition plan which allowed the homeowner to plan for his or her future needs.

The bi-level was purchased while it was still under construction. He chose from various basic plans, and customized the interior to suit his needs. The home features an open-concept layout on the main floor, which is tastefully
